

beads

*Beads in a string are like people. People do not live alone but are connected to each other—just like a string of beads.

beads

*Buddhists do not believe there is a creator.
*They do believe that there are rules about what is right. They think about these rules during their prayer or focus time.